THE RECENT STORMS.

Great Damage to Property in Maine—More Vessels Reported Lost.

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 15.—The recent gale took the form of a cyclone in Oxford and other frontier counties. The damage in Oxford county was $100,000. Houses and barns were destroyed and cattle killed. The damage was heavy throughout northern Maine.

The greatest damage appears to have been caused within a belt some ten miles wide, crossing Piscataquis county and northern Penobscot into Aroostook. The same belt probably crossed Somerset county at Shirley. The storm was very severe. It followed down Piscataquis valley, crossed the gulf and went across Longa and Indian townships to the lower lakes, and thence to a point near Patten. There are great stretches of country where the forest was levelled to the ground, and millions of feet of valuable timber destroyed. Whole townships in some instances are said to be nearly flat. Losses are certainly several hundred thousand dollars. A well-known lumberman estimates the total damage throughout the state at a round million.

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 15.—First reports of the damage by the gale gave but a slight idea of the havoc wrought. Many localities are yet unheard from, but enough is known to demonstrate that the calamity was of great magnitude.

BOSTON, Nov. 15.—A cyclone in Oxford and Franklin counties, Maine, caused losses aggregating $150,000.

IN CANADA.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—There is no news yet of the steamer Frances Smith. The vessel has not been seen at any of the places where she was advertised to stop and great anxiety exists. Captain Campbell of the Atlantic, the last vessel from Sault Ste Marie, says that his opinion is the Frances Smith has gone to State island, Lake Superior, and is probably now safe. The vessel is generally thought not to be in that locality.

FOUR LIVES PROBABLY LOST.

KINGSTON, Ont., Nov. 15.—The tug Thompson, which left Charlotte, New York, for Kingston, with the barges Senator and Milwaukee, coal laden, in tow, arrived to-day with the former only. The Milwaukee snapped the tow line when abreast of Main ducks and has not been seen since. It is believed she went down with all on board, four in number.

THE ARGONAUT SAFE.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The steamship Argonaut, which it was feared had gone down in Sunday's storm, is reported all right at Port Huron.

ANOTHER GALE ON LAKE HURON.

GODERICH, Ont., Nov. 15.—There is another heavy gale to-night on Lake Huron. It is feared the result will be disastrous to shipping.

AMERICAN PUBLIC HEALTH ASSOCIATION.

A Large Number of Papers Read at the Detroit Session.

DETROIT, Nov. 15.—At the session of the American Public Health Association large numbers of papers were read, but there were so many that some were only read by title, and will appear in a public volume of reports.

Dr. Rudolph Hiring, of New York, read one on "The removal of decomposable matter from households." He advocated the system now practiced by the New York board of health, for the complete removal of all gases from houses.

Dr. Wm. Oldright, of Ontario, read a paper on "Overhead ventilation and sewers," recommending the erection of separate pipes from sewers to and above the roofs of houses.

Dr. Joseph H. Raymond, of Brooklyn, read a paper on "Care of households," divulging methods of disposing of filth that accumulates in houses.

Dr. Oscar C. Davis of Chicago gave a very interesting description of the drainage system of Pullman, Ill., where the contents of the sewers of the town are pumped and taken away by pipes, to be used as fertilizing material on large farms some miles away. This experiment is claimed to be a success financially as well as in every other respect.

Prof. A. VanBibber of Baltimore read an interesting paper on the "Problem of drainage of level lands."

A resolution was adopted calling upon congress to re-enact the law which expired in 1883, giving the national board of health funds for the prosecution of the general work of sanitation throughout the country. The national museum of hygiene, under the care of the surgeon general of the navy, also received the hearty indorsement of the association, and congress was asked to appropriate funds for its maintenance.

At the evening session Rev. Hugh Miller Thompson, assistant bishop of Mississippi, read a paper on "Save humanity," and Dr. Foster Pratt, of Kalamazoo, Mich., one on "The increase of insanity in the United States." Both were quite elaborate papers.

THE STOCK MARKET.

Shares Generally Firmer, and a Slight Advance is Recorded.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Governments strong. The general market to-day was firmer, and a majority of the active stocks show fractional gains over the closing prices of last night. Attempts made yesterday and to-day to depress the market have resulted in a considerable increase of the outstanding short interest in Central, Lake Shore, Michigan Central, Lackawanna and Union Pacific. Otherwise than this there has been no change of importance in the general situation. Mining stocks were very dull. Horn Silver sold at $6 63 and $6 50; Ontario, $2 60 to $2 25, closing at $2 35; Silver King, $7; Mexican, $2 50; Sierra Grande, $84; Chrysolite, $1 35 buyer 60, and Little Pittsburg $55 to $57. Sales for the day were 21,715 shares.

MONEY, STOCKS AND BONDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The money market was easy at 2@3, closed 2; prime mercantile paper, 5@6½; sterling exchange, bankers' bills, stronger at $4 82; sterling exchange, demand, $4 84½.

FIRES.

AT CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Fire broke out this afternoon in the heavy carriage and wagon stock warehouse of S. D. Kimbark & Co., Nos. 82 and 84 Michigan avenue adjoining the Illinois Central railroad general offices. The third and fourth stories, containing all the lighter portion of the stock, were destroyed. Goods in the basement of Reid, Murdock & Fisher, wholesale grocers, were damaged to an unknown extent by water. The Illinois Central offices were saved by the fire wall. Loss on stock $20,000, and on the building $25,000; insurance on stock $235,000, and on the building $46,000.

BIG BLAZE AT OSHKOSH, WISCONSIN.

OSHKOSH, Wis., Nov. 15.—The lumber yards of Stanbitler, Ames & Co. and A. D. Peck are burning, and fire has broken out in Morgan block, near by. The flames are beyond control and the mayor has telegraphed to Fond du Lac for aid. A loss of $100,000 is anticipated, as the wind blows a gale.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 16.—Flames originating in a lumber pile at Oshkosh, Wisconsin, burned with great fury for six hours, destroying two mills and several residences, the losses aggregating $150,000. Chief Engineer Weisbrode broke a leg. Engines were sent from Milwaukee, Menasha, Neenah and Fond du Lac.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

The World's Fair at New Orleans.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Senator Vest and Congressmen Carlisle and Casey Young called, with Commissioner-General Morehead, on the Austrian minister to-day, with a view of securing, through the Austrian government, a transfer of the late Vienna electrical exposition to the world's exposition in New Orleans next year. The Austrian minister evinced the greatest interest and promised to use his best endeavors to further the plan. A visit to the department of state was also made, where it was learned that the foreign affairs of the world's exposition, which, under act of congress, are in charge of this department, are in a most satisfactory and encouraging shape. The department has received a large number of letters from various foreign countries, evincing the utmost interest and desiring to make exhibits at the New Orleans exposition.

Carlisle Confident of Success.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—[Special.]—A Washington special declares that Carlisle expresses himself as thoroughly confident of his securing the speakership. He has substantial strength in quarters which Randall's friends had not expected. Yesterday Carlisle received two recruits from West Virginia, who for months had been classed among Randall's most steadfast supporters. To-day Cassidy of Nevada arrived, and announced that he would vote for Carlisle. George B. Wise of Virginia, who had been counted for Randall, is reported to have said yesterday that he had decided to vote for Carlisle. These are some of the surface indications which give Carlisle's friends encouragement. A calculation of the result of the final ballot, as between Carlisle and Randall, gives the approximate totals of Carlisle 107, Randall 89.

THE TURF.

THE TROTTING RECORD LOWERED NEARLY TWO SECONDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—At Prospect park J. B. Barnaby & Co.'s gelding H. B. Winship and running mate Hiram Bruce trotted against J. Keene's gelding Frank and running mate J. G. Ney. There were only two heats, Frank winning the first heat and Winship the second. The time was the best on record—2:08¼ and 2:10¼.

CANADA.

THE INDIGNATION SENTIMENT GROWING IN MANITOBA.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 15.—The association formed here to take steps for redressing grievances endured by Manitoba, at the hands of the dominion, at the last meeting instructed a committee to draft a platform. That committee met this evening with closed doors. It is understood it made some progress and adjourned till Saturday to complete the labors, after which it will report to the association. It is understood the platform will be a demand upon the dominion for the removal of the monopoly provision in the Canada Pacific railway charter, greater encouragement to settlers by opening up land reserves, removal of duties upon implements and other grievances. In the country the feeling of farmers is becoming intensified at the oppressive transportation rates imposed on grain, and favoritism is believed to be shown one strong milling firm. Meetings are being held in southern Manitoba, to send remonstrances to Ottawa. A meeting will be held at Brandon, on the 20th, to organize a farmers' association, on principles similar to the grangers. Secession however, will be only a last resort, but agitation to that effect will be forthcoming if redress does not come. The people of Manitoba are attached to the Canadian constitution, but they are indignant at the doings of parliament and the administration.

THREE HUNDRED SUITS AGAINST THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A Montreal dispatch says: Five hundred of the 1000 men hired by the Canadian Pacific road at $2 per day, to work on the road at North Lake Superior, have arrived at that city absolutely destitute, and have entered 300 actions against the company for wages and damages. The men are all French-Canadians, and great indignation exists among their compatriots.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Post's Montreal special: Months ago the Canadian Pacific railway hired 1000 men at $2 per day to work on the section of road near North Lake Superior. Arriving there, they found no preparations made for them—neither work, food nor shelter—and, from all appearances, were left to starve or freeze in the wilderness. A riot occurred and an attack on the stores was made. The men obtaining whisky, a free fight occurred, in which two of the men were fatally injured. Manager Lepan was threatened with lynching. Two or three hundred started to walk through the dense forest to another section of the road, where work was promised. Then they took a vessel at Algoma and started for Owen Sound. Five hundred of them have arrived, absolutely destitute, and have entered 300 actions against the company for wages and damages. The men are French Canadians and the greatest indignation exists among their compatriots.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC DEFENDED.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Tribune characterizes the Times' assertion that the Canada Pacific was a stock jobbing scheme as a malicious falsehood. It says the road completed and under construction by the government, about 700 miles, belongs to the company free of cost. Money spent in surveys and construction does not affect the resources of the company, for this virtually is a part of the subsidy granted to the company. Although ten years is allowed to complete the road, it expects to finish the work within five years from its organization, in 1881.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE DISCUSSED.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—A joint deputation of members of the city council and the Canadian Woman Suffrage association waited on local government yesterday in reference to bestowing upon women the same qualifications as men, now possess—the right of franchise in municipal and parliamentary elections. After hearing the views of the deputation, Attorney General Mowatt, on behalf of the government, said there was no doubt that the franchise would have to be extended to women in time. Few municipalities had petitioned for the change, while, with regard to the school trustees franchise, women entitled to vote had not exercised it much. The subject, he said, would be considered carefully by the government.

BOURBON BULLDOZERS.

Negroes Intimidated and Afraid to Make a Move—The Situation at Danville.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The National Republican, whose editor is making an investigation of the Danville massacre, has a letter from near Danville, which says: "A mob still holds possession of the bloody field won at Danville, the 3d inst., and the perpetrators of the atrocity of that day appear to be afraid to relax the iron grip they hold lest those who were witnesses shall feel free to speak out. Every man not owned by the bourbons is watched, and his life would not be worth a pin if he should be suspected of sending out for publication any account of the awful tragedy. My advices are most reliable, and are derived from the sources known to have the best information."

Danville is in Pottsylvania county. Chatham, in the same county, is twelve miles distant. Following are extracts from private letters from that place of the date of November 10:

SIMS' WONDERFUL ESCAPE.

The writer says of Mr. Sims, liberal candidate for the state senate: "Sims' escape from the Danville ruffians and brigands was almost miraculous. Owing to a deafness he did not and does not now appreciate the danger he was in. He was saved partly by accident and partly by the prudence of friends. Fortunately the room he occupies was in a building, the front entrance to which was upon an open flight of stairs not five yards from the end of a long dark and narrow alley. This, with the help of two friends who furnished assistance, enabled him to leave the city in safety. The measure was inaugurated in accordance with a preconcerted programme, and was pursued by cowardly villains."

A gentleman who was at Danville Friday last, says that the condition there is volcanic, and the most moderate of bourbons predict that if the wounded white man, [illegible], dies, his death would be the signal of an outbreak against the negroes, more destructive than that of the 3d. The quiet is only external, and so alarmed is the condition of affairs that Collector Boston, of the internal revenue, is virtually a prisoner in his own house. It is believed that nothing but the presence of United States troops can make Danville or Pottsylvania county a place of safety for any who have dared to dispute bourbon opinions or testify to bourbon methods.

RAILROAD NOTES.

ALLEGED OBJECT OF MR. OAKES' VISIT.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 15.—At the time that the Northern Pacific had announced its first intention not to be a party to the contract system, Mr. Muir and his subordinates had distributed among the merchants of San Francisco written pledges for them to sign, in which they pledged themselves to support the home road in the fight with the Central Pacific. Sufficient time was given to the merchants to consider the matter, but when pressed for their signatures there was not one single merchant to attach his name to the circular sent out, though in verbal pledges they were all profuse. Such being the case the Northern Pacific officials concluded it was to their advantage in every way to withdraw altogether from San Francisco, in so far as continuing that place as a competitive point was concerned. The object of the visit of Vice President Oakes, and other Northern Pacific officials to the west end of the road is said to be to continue the organization commenced some time ago on this coast. A general manager for all Northern Pacific interests on the coast is talked of, but previous to departure nothing had been decided upon in relation to such a proposition.

CONFERENCE AT TOPEKA.

TOPEKA, Nov. 15.—At a meeting with the traffic managers to-day the board of railway commissioners agreed to accept distance rates proposed by the managers on through freight, provided it be applied under the same condition that tariffs have been applied heretofore. It is thought this will make a reduction of 10 per cent. The managers asked thirty days to consider whether they would accept. It was demonstrated wholly impracticable, on account of conditions prevailing on different lines, to adopt uniform rates. Therefore the board proposed to meet the representatives of each road and prepare a schedule of rates. Without saying whether they would do this all the managers left, except Mr. Worson of the Missouri Pacific. He remained to prepare a schedule for that road. The Missouri and the Union Pacific, the Fort Scott and Gulf and the St. Louis and San Francisco can probably be covered by a uniform tariff.

PACIFIC RATES ARRANGED—RISTINE COMING WEST.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The Transcontinental Railway Association, passenger department, met again to-day and considered additional minor details of Pacific coast rates. Those were concurred in by passenger agents of Chicago roads. It is now believed the matter will be finally settled on a firm basis.

George W. Ristine, the new pool commissioner, left this evening for St. Louis. He will go thence to San Francisco and will spend thirty days in the west, familiarizing himself with details of the business, when he will return to Chicago and enter upon the discharge of his duties by calling a meeting to perfect the organization of his office.

A DENIAL BY THE UNION PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—Officers of the Union Pacific deny the reports circulated yesterday and to-day, that the gross earnings for September and October showed $1,000,000 decrease from the same months last year. They state that the gross earnings for the last two months will not show a greater decrease than $200,000, as compared with last year, and there is no probability that the company will fail to earn and pay the same dividends for the current year as last, and have a large surplus still.

THE OREGON SHORT LINE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The Post says the Oregon Short Line will be completed to connection with the Oregon Railway and Navigation line next June or July, which will give the Union Pacific a shorter line from Chicago to Portland, Oregon, than by any other railroad, and largely increase its business and profits.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

BRUTAL ROBBERY NEAR DENVER.

DENVER, Nov. 15.—One of the most brutal robberies that ever occurred in Colorado was enacted at Petersburg Grove, seven miles from this city, last night. At that place resides an old bachelor, Peter Olsen, who usually kept small sums of money hid about the premises. Last night four disguised men went to the house and knocked, as is customary in the country. The former asked the visitors to come in, and as soon as all were inside, they seized Olsen, threw him on the floor and held him, and then demanded to know where his money was. He replied that he had none. After thoroughly searching the house to no purpose, Olsen still refusing to tell where the money was hid, the robbers got willow switches and whipped his bare feet and legs until they were covered with blood. Still refusing, they built a large fire in the back yard, carried Olsen out and proceeded to execute their threat to roast him alive. They placed his feet in the fire and literally roasted them. Even this terrible treatment would not open his mouth. The old man was then compelled to walk back to the house, where a scuffle ensued, during which the stove was overturned, disclosing a money box containing $400, which the robbers took and decamped. No clue. Olsen will probably recover.

TRAMPS WARMLY RECEIVED.

SOUR LAKE, Tex., Nov. 15.—Twelve tramps were noticed about the depot last night. The agent suspecting that they intended to rob the coming train, wired the superintendent, who ordered a posse of twenty men aboard at Liberty. As the train pulled into Sour Lake the tramps rushed for the express car, but were halted by a score of Winchesters. The passengers, especially the ladies, were almost panic-stricken. Valuables were hurriedly secreted or thrown away. The gang, however, were unarmed, and asserted that they only wished to steal a ride.

A WEDDING ENDS IN A TERRIBLE TRAGEDY.

RALEIGH, Nov. 15.—At a wedding in Currituck, North Carolina, liquor at the supper table led to a difficulty in which several guests of the party participated. Six shots were fired in one minute, clearing the room. The groom's best man was killed, and another groomsman received a mortal wound. The corpse was removed to an upper room, and the young couple sat up all night with the disabled man.

ALLEGED ASSASSINS DISCHARGED.

DENVER, Nov. 15.—The trial of Martin and Coffin, charged with complicity in the Grand lake assassination last July, was called at Golden this morning. The prosecution moved to dismiss the case, on the ground of insufficient evidence to convict, and the prisoners were discharged.

A FASTING THIEF ESCAPES.

BELVIDERE, N. J., Nov. 15.—Peter Smith, the horse thief who fasted thirty-eight days, escaped from jail to-night.

Had an Easy Digestion.

Chicago Tribune.

"I remember," says a correspondent, "once breakfasting with M. Thiers. There were six prefects at the table. Cod was served. M. Thiers took a large plateful. He then took the oil cruet and poured nearly the whole of the contents over the cod. I was alarmed at seeing an old man preparing to eat such a dish, and could not refrain from asking whether he was not afraid of doing himself some harm. 'No, no,' he replied, 'I want to show these gentlemen that I am capable of governing, because I have an easy digestion.'"

Singular Seizure of a Government Vessel—The Mormon Organ Speaks Against the Cleveland Movement—Etc.

CALIFORNIA.

"Black Bart" Gives Up His Stolen Treasure.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—A Stockton dispatch states that the man C. E. Bolton, who was arrested here on Monday night by Detective Hume, of Wells, Fargo & Co., has been identified by Martin, the old hunter, as the veritable "Black Bart." He has been lodged in jail.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—The following dispatch was received to-day from Harry Morse, of Morse's detective agency, addressed to Division Superintendent Rowell of Wells, Fargo & Co.:

"COPPEROPOLIS, Cal., Nov. 15.

"L. F. Rowell:—"Black Bart" "throws up the sponge." Stone, Thorne and myself have recovered all the stolen treasure. HARRY N. MORSE."

After he had made a confession the detectives, accompanied by "Black Bart," drove to Copperopolis, near the scene of the robber's last exploit, where he said they "cached the swag." In a few minutes they unearthed $4,241, being nearly all his last capture. The express company say the total of his previous twenty-two robberies does not exceed $3000. Morse, to whom Bart's capture is mainly due, will, with other detectives, get one-fourth of the amount recovered, besides rewards of $800. "Black Bart's" real name is now said to be C. E. Bolles, that being the name inscribed in his family bible, found in his room when arrested. The same name is also on a documentary discharge from the army, found at the same time, he having served in the regular army.

Singular Seizure of a Government Vessel.

The facts of a singular seizure have just been made public. Commander Russel, under orders of the navy department, seized the monitor Monadnock, being constructed at Vallejo, and removed it to the navy yard. The navy department made three contracts for the construction of the vessel with Phineas Burgess of New York, each for separate work. The last contract of $410,000 was for the completion of equipment and one year's sea service. Secretary Thompson annulled this, and it was not renewed by the successors under the second contract. Burgess holds approved claims against the government for $212,000. His representatives were holding the ship against these claims, and also with the expectation that they would be allowed the final account, when the vessel was seized and carried off, no reasons being assigned.

How Spreckels Watered the Stock.

The Chronicle publishes the following to-morrow: "At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hawaiian Commercial and Sugar Refining Company, it transpired that the company's stock, originally in the hands of Claus Spreckels and his relatives, had been heavily watered from the original 10,000 shares to 100,000 shares, and sold in open market at from $25 to $68 per share. The sales were induced by dividends paid for two successive months, which payments were subsequently declared a mistake by Spreckels. On this fact becoming public the stock fell until now it is quoted at $9 50, with few bidders. The Spreckels combination retain sufficient shares to enable them to control the enterprise.

ANTI-MORMON SOCIETIES.

The Cleveland Organization Calls Forth an Editorial from the Church Organ.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 15.—The organization of secret anti-polygamy societies has caused the Deseret News, the Mormon church organ, to say: "The strength of feeling inspiring those who have entered upon this work of darkness, is measurably indicated by the readiness with which the leaders subscribe the funds for the accomplishment of their purposes. Ten thousand dollars is a considerable sum to begin operations with. The importance and vast character of the church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, is demonstrated by the widespread and comprehensive opposition it is meeting in special and unjustly discriminating legislation. Schools, churches and political and other organizations are all aiming their shafts with vindictive thrust and deadly purpose. The warfare has been both open and secret, but it appears that a stab in the back is the modus operandi likely to be largely in the preponderance, judging from the insidious underground organization established at Cleveland. Such movements being connected with a subject of popular interest, have a progressive tendency. It would occasion no special surprise if the example of the Cleveland anti-Mormon secret societies would be followed by societies of a similar bent in other cities throughout the land, thus trying to render unpleasant the situation of a people seeking to carry out their honest convictions of right. There is also an absence of any sentiment of magnanimity in the breasts of the generality of the people of the country at large, who either look upon the spectacle with apathy or exultation. But the culmination of the subtle movement will be the organization of similar societies in Salt Lake and in every Gentile mining camp in Utah and Idaho, to be extended to other Pacific states and territories.

The Wife of Robert Burns.

The Century.

The old ladies said that their mother had liked "Jean" on the whole, though "at first not so weel, on account of the connection being what it was." She was kindly, cheery, "never bonny;" but had a good figure, danced well and sang well, and worshiped her husband. She was "not intellectual;" "but there's some say a poet shouldn't have an intellectual wife," one of the ingenuous old spinsters remarked, interrogatively. "At any rate, she suited him, an' it was ill speering at her after all that was said and done," the younger niece added, with real feeling in her tone. Well might she say so. If there be a touching picture in all the long list of faithful and ill-used women, it is that of "bonnie Jean"—the unwedded mother of children, the forgiving wife of a husband who betrayed others as he betrayed her—when she took into her arms and nursed and cared for her husband's child, born of an outcast woman, and bravely answered all curious questioners with: "It's a neebor's bairn I'm bringin' up." She wrought for herself a place and an esteem of which her honest and loving humanity little dreamed.

Dredging the Deep Sea.

New York Sun.

After much disappointment and many delays, the Abbe Moignot has succeeded in raising the large sum of money he asked for, wherewith to dredge the bottom of the Red sea. He is after Pharaoh's chariots and the costly trappings of the Egyptian army. He sees no reason why some of these relics should not be recovered, even at the trouble of removing the sand which has for centuries concealed them. He is enthusiastic in the hope of fishing up solid dividends for the stockholders in his scheme, as well as of finding much that is valuable to the scholar and the archæologist. The enterprise does not seem much more chimerical than those which have been set on foot in this country for the recovery of treasure supposed to be buried by Captain Kidd. Centuries ago the Romans threw many valuable things into the muddy Tiber, some of which have been brought to light within recent years. We may yet have in our museums some of those famous diamond-studded wheels of the war chariots of the Egyptian monarch, side by side with the keel of Noah's ark.

VILLARD'S NEW PALACE.

The Magnificent Dwelling New Building in New York in Which the President of the Northern Pacific Will Make His Future Home.

Correspondence of Pioneer-Press.

For a long time the dwellers on Murray Hill have marveled at the reported splendors of the mansion being erected on Madison avenue by Mr. Henry Villard, the railway magnate. Through the courtesy of the architects, Messrs McKim, Mead & White, your correspondent to-day procured the necessary pass and visited the colossal structure. Mr. Villard's new house, or rather houses, occupies an entire block, having a frontage on Madison avenue of 200 feet. The part which he will occupy is on the corner of Fifty-first street. Its frontage is sixty feet, and its depth 100 feet. The other wing will be precisely similar, except that it is divided into three houses, and between the two wings is a court, eighty feet in width and seventy-three feet in depth. The portion of the building back of the court extends back forty feet beyond the wings, and is a double house of itself. In the center of the court will be placed a magnificent fountain, around which will be a broad drive, and in each corner a grass plot. Each house will communicate directly with the courts. Mr. Villard's house and the two center houses are completed, except as the interior, while the walls of the remaining building are up to the second story. The exterior of the great building is more grand than beautiful. It is the result of a combination of Roman and Florentine architecture, plans of the Cancelleria palace at Rome and the Fernesi palace being copied by the architects. The material is Belleville, N. J., sandstone, the light grayish amber stone of which Trinity church was built. Everything is massive and there is little attempt at ornament. Huge blocks of stone are piled one upon another and overtopped by heavy cornice of the same material. The wings are three stories in height, beside the basement and attic stories. From the sidewalk to the cornice is sixty-eight feet. The basement and first stories are rusticated, and the others plain stone ashlar with the angles strengthened by rustication. The front of the two center houses is supported by five arcades, with heavy columns of polished Jonesboro granite. Dutch tiles cover the roof. The whole effect is severe and dignified. Entering the spacious portal of the Villard residence your correspondent found himself in a magnificent reception room, fourteen feet by twenty-eight in depth. Everything here was in inlaid wood, floor, ceiling, walls and columns. On either side opened the drawing rooms. They are each nineteen by twenty-eight feet, and are being finished in mahogany inlaid with light woods, satin wood and maple being noticeable. Between the pilasters will be hung rich embroidered stuffs. The predominating tones are a light reddish brown and a light yellow. The drawing rooms and reception room are so arranged that they can be thrown into one spacious apartment 100 feet in width and 28 in depth. From the reception room a hall 14 feet in width and 42 in length leads to the music room. Aladdin's lamp never revealed a hall more magnificent. It is entirely in mosaic. The material is yellow Italian marble. The floor is of Italian marble in small pieces woven into beautiful designs. The mantel is a masterpiece of the sculptor from an Italian design, and the whole apartment was executed by Italian artists in the style of modern Pompeiian palaces. The hall is spanned by three semicircular arches in Sienna marble, with sculpture by Louis St. Gaudens. A vestibule in the same design leads out of the hall back of the drawing room.

The music room is the chief d'oeuvre of the decorator's art. It is a diminutive theater, forty-eight by twenty-four feet in dimensions, and thirty-two feet from floor to ceiling, extending to the third story. It is in the style of the Francis I. room of Fontainebleau palace. The colors are white and gold. A wainscoting eight feet in height, in carved pine, surrounds the room. At one end is a gallery for the musicians. The ceiling is an elliptical vault, and every detail shows the skill of the artist. Between the music room and vestibule, marble stairs, twelve feet broad, lead to the upper stories. Again the tone is yellow. An exquisite renaissance ceiling spans the stairs. The elevator way occupies the remaining space. Across the hall are the main dining room and breakfast room which can be thrown into one apartment 20x60 feet in size. Carved woods again replace the marble. The room is executed in English oak, inlaid with white mahogany. The ceiling is divided with beams cased with English oak, and the carved frieze, three feet in width, are inlaid with floral designs. The two mantels are of red Verona marble, and are copies of those which Mr. Meade was sent to Italy to select, but which arrived in a somewhat damaged condition, and were presented by him to the museum of art. Here, also, St. Gaudens still is seen. The upper stories are in keeping with the splendor below, although, of course, not so elaborate. The general style is Italian renaissance. The furniture will be especially magnificent. That of the drawing rooms will be upholstered, and of colors harmonizing with the decorations, the reddish brown tone predominating. It was designed by the architects who executed the rooms. The other houses will be finished in a style becoming their pretensions, although nothing like this. The cost of the building, unfurnished, will be over $1,000,000. Of this amount the decorating of the drawing rooms cost $60,000; the dining rooms $20,000; the hall, $30,000, and the music room, $20,000. As much more will be expended on the work in the latter room a year hence. To finish the interior of Mr. Villard's house necessitates the expenditure of $250,000. The upper floors are now about completed, and the furniture is arriving. Mr. Villard's family will occupy them in two or three weeks, and the remainder of the house will be finished by midwinter. Mr. Villard has disposed of two houses in the main part of the building to Messrs. Holmes & Adams, the wealthy railroad lawyers, who will occupy them. The structure, when completed, will be the most magnificent residence building in the country, far surpassing the Vanderbilt houses. It is the first attempt made to reproduce an Italian palace in America, and the architects are deservedly proud of their success. Henry Villard's house may well be said to be palatial. It is a palace in fact.

The Latest in Weddings.

Chicago Evening Journal.

There are fashions in weddings as in dress. Some years ago what was supposed to be the English style was introduced. The peculiarity of this style lies in the absence of bridesmaids, the presence of a best man and the substitution of ushers for groomsmen. The best man follows the groomsman from the vestry, and holds the groom's hat during the ceremony. But, after all, this does not seem to be the genuine English style. It is a sort of compromise, for mild Anglo-maniacs, between the British and American method. The true through-and-through English style requires, besides the best man and ushers, that the bride shall walk up the aisle ungloved, holding a family prayer book. As the Anglomaniac is an imitation, an imitation prayer book will probably do for ladies whose families don't use a prayer book. An innovation in weddings which has, however, nothing especial to do with the English or American style, is to strew the middle aisle of the church with autumn leaves. This picturesque feature was introduced at a recent wedding in New Jersey, the rustling leaves accompanying the soft wedding music as the bridal party approaches the altar. But the most startling novelty was recently tried at a wedding in Sing Sing. As a rival to the groom's best man the bride had a "best girl." The "best girl" solves the problem what to do with the best man after the ceremony, as he has the best girl to escort down the aisle. For this reason the new feature may become popular. It is now not uncommon to have young girls in Kate Greenaway costume to attend [illegible] during the ceremony.

A Suicide that Points a Moral.

St. Paul Pioneer Press.

The suicide of Arthur B. Johnson of Utica points a moral in the neighborhood of such men as President Arthur and Roscoe Conkling. The self-slain debauchee was their boon friend, a man whose society they prized, for whose qualities of mind and heart they delighted to honor. And he was a cheap, state-brained, very ordinary mortal, too. Conkling and Johnson were cronies in youth, and were members of a gang of young fellows that amused themselves by setting fire to buildings in the city of Utica for the fun of it. The life of the suicide was pretty much one piece of reckless self indulgence. The income of an inexhaustible fortune, constantly increasing, was lavishly spent on excesses and debauches that would have been the despair of a George the Fourth. He was the political, as well as the social friend of Arthur and Conkling, and assisted them with money and influence to the best of his ability. When Conkling and Platt sought re-election, two years ago, after the fiasco of resigning to spite Garfield, Johnson and President Arthur were the men most prominently noticed in the lobby at work at Albany to help the disgruntled senators. Altogether, the affair is one that will make public a good many scandalous and disgraceful things in the life of the friend of the president and ex-senator.

Arthur's Accomplishments.

Some of the president's accomplishments have been revealed by John Murphy, a member of Harry Miner's variety combination. Murphy says: "The president, before he was president, a long time ago, when only collector of the port of New York, was one of the most favored and expert pupils at the banjo school of Dobson Brothers, New York. Of course, I do not doubt that he learned the art simply for personal amusement but he was so earnest and ambitious at one time that others before they knew who he was, began to suspect that he was training up to start a minstrel show, and they were outrageously jealous of him. As a fact, they didn't like gentlemen scholars anyhow. But let me give you a pointer. Mr. Arthur is a more expert jig dancer than a banjoist. He took lessons twenty-five years ago at a jig dancer when I was a scholar at Leonard's. At that time every youngster wanted to learn how to jig. I only learned the art for fun. I never expected to have to resort to it for a living. But that doesn't matter. Mr. Arthur was a scholar for three quarters of the time he learned the various steps and twists and turns completely, and when lessons were over frequently outdanced some of the oldest hands at the business. I suppose he is too dignified now to dance a jig, but I wouldn't be surprised if he did take a step or two once in a while when he has some weighty matter on his mind."

LUNDBORG'S RHENISH COLOGNE.

WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE.

COUNCIL.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 14.

Caton presented a petition from Mrs. W. G. Green, a widow resident of the city of Walla Walla, praying that her property be excluded from the limits of boundaries under the provisions of C. B. 2, now pending. The petition was countersigned by over 100 citizens, and accompanied by an additional petition from two by six ladies of the same place, the latter being worded thus: "We would further represent that taxation of property without benefit to or assent to parties owning same, by soulless corporations, is tyranny, and the conferring the right so to tax carries with it the power to destroy its value, and should be very carefully guarded and restricted. Whenever delegated to corporations by legislatures, never without the right to appeal from the arbitrary rulings of such a body (it may be composed of designing demagogues) clothed with brief authority." The petition was referred to an appropriate committee.

By permission H. B. 78 relative to fixing the time of holding terms of district court at Port Townsend. Passed.

Harper presented a petition from citizens of the territory to amend the act relative to gambling. Referred to committee on federal relations.

Collins and Hale presented petitions to have churches exempted from taxation.

Burk presented a remonstrance against the passage of H. B. 46, relative to locating the county seat of Cowlitz county.

C. B. 69 was then introduced by the judiciary committee, being a substitute for various bills previously introduced, amending and correcting the code.

Caton introduced three bills, as follows: C. B. 60, to enable school districts to borrow money; 61, to amend section 2860 of the code, and 62, to amend section 2474 of code, all of which were referred.

Burk introduced C. B. 63, to repeal an act relating to the spread of infectious diseases and the quarantine of vessels, as far as it relates to Pacific county.

Kerr introduced one of the best bills of the session, and which affects the education, morality, and even the health and lives of the youth of our land. The bill is No. 64, to prohibit the sale of pistols and tobacco to children under the age of 16 years.

Following immediately on the heels of the above came another one from Hale on the same subject, and both were referred to the judiciary committee.

H. B. 6, to amend section 2122 of the code, provides that the United States court shall be moved from Kalama to Vancouver.

Burk used every effort to defeat the bill, as he believed it would be a hardship on the people of his district.

Harper defended the bill and gave his reasons for making the change.

Caton explained the reasons why the judiciary committee recommend the passage of the bill. The bill was then passed.

The council concurred in the house amendments to C. B. 17, to create and organize the county of Lincoln.

C. B. 7, to amend chapter 113 of the code relative to habitual drunkards, was then taken up, and Edmiston explained that to make the old bill effective it was necessary to make the changes proposed by the present bill.

The famous scalp law was then taken up, together with the proposed amendments, and Collins made several remarks thereon. He believed the bill as introduced was a just one, and one that could be made effective, but he regarded the amendment as objectionable, as they would kill the force of the bill, and the law would become a dead letter. The bill was then made the special order for next Friday afternoon, and the bill was ordered reprinted with the amendments in brackets.

H. B. 85, fixing the compensation of treasurer of Stevens county, was passed.

HOUSE.

Kuhn in the chair.

Goodell introduced H. M. 15, relative to the erection of a light house at Gray's Harbor.

Martin introduced H. M. 16, relative to constructing a canal for the purpose of connecting Lakes Union and Washington, situate near Seattle, with Puget sound.

The same gentleman also introduced H. B. 85, fixing the salary of the treasurer of King county at $1500, in lieu of fees.

Brooks introduced H. B. 86, to amend sec. 2721 of the code, relative to county auditors.

Hungate introduced H. B. 87, fixing the fees of notaries public and commissioners of deeds. Referred.

Goodell introduced H. B. 88, to establish a district court at Montesano, after the cases now pending are disposed of.

C. B. 49, relative to storage of arms, was next taken up and passed.

C. B. 41, repealing an act relative to selling eggs by weight was passed. The "warp fence" bill was then tabled, subject to the order of the House. Motion to adjourn lost.

H. M. 3, relative to further appropriations for the Cascade locks was then passed.

Some members getting very hungry, motion for recess was lost. Motion to adjourn lost. Hungry members groaned in spirit.

H. M. 7, in relation to the restoration of railroad lands to the public domain, was reported on adversely by the committee. Several motions were made and lost. At last the hungry ones succeeded in carrying a motion for recess, and all felt happy over the result.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

H. M. 9, by Shaw, was the first thing introduced, praying for an appropriation for that part of the Columbia river between the mouth of the Willamette river and the lower Cascades. The memorial reads as follows: Whereas, the rapid utilization of the power furnished by the numerous streams falling into the Columbia river, between the mouth of the Willamette river and the lower Cascades of the Columbia for the purposes of manufacture and the settlement of the country on the north side of, and along that part of the Columbia river, is developing a vastly increased commerce on said river between the points named, the needs of which demand a safe and deep channel to the sea; and

WHEREAS, There are rocks and shoals in the channel of the Columbia river, between the points herein named, which make the navigation dangerous and difficult; therefore be it resolved by the house of representatives of the legislative assembly of Washington territory, the council concurring therein,

First. That our delegate in congress be, and he is hereby instructed to exert his influence to procure the appropriation by congress of the sum of $50,000 for the purpose of improving the navigation of the Columbia river from the mouth of the Willamette to the Lower Cascades.

Second. That the secretary of the territory be, and he is hereby instructed to furnish a certified copy of this concurrent resolution and preamble thereto for the president, president of the United States senate, speaker of the house of representatives, and to our delegate in congress.

The memorial passed.

Landrum introduced H. B. 90, in relation to territorial arms and accoutrements. The bill was referred.

Clark introduced H. B. 91, an act supplementary to chapter 46 of the code.

Brooks introduced H. B. 92, an act for the relief of Miss Fanny Verona Baldwin, now in the hospital for insane. The bill provides that she shall be brought before the probate court of Thurston county on the 21st inst., and shall have a trial by jury to determine as to her sanity or insanity. Bill passed.

Clark introduced H. B. 93, fixing the salaries of certain officers of Garfield county. Passed.

H. M. 17, introduced by Landrum, in relation to the restoration of railroad lands to the public domain.

The speaker, after the first reading, declared the resolution out of order, as a similar measure had been acted upon before recess.

Landrum appealed from the decision, but the appeal was not sustained.

H. B. 40, increasing the jurisdiction of justices of the peace, was taken up and passed. This makes his jurisdiction $300 instead of $100.

House then adjourned.

HOG LAW.

I regret to learn that a misapprehension exists as to the result of the law relative to permitting hogs to run at large. The law introduced by Barlow merely makes the present law general instead of only pertaining to a few counties, and changes nothing from what it has been previously.

THE WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE BILL PASSED.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 15.—[Special.]—The council to-day, by a vote of seven to five, passed the bill striking out the word "male" from all election laws. It passed the lower house several weeks ago, and there is no doubt that Governor Newell will sign the bill. Friends of equal rights are jubilant over their victory. Arrangements are being made for a grand ratification meeting Monday night.

HEREDITARY BLOOD POISON

The Hereditary Blood Poison of Scrofula develops in the delicate tissues of the brain mental weakness and infirmities, idiocy and insanity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, impairs the sense of smell and taste, or breaks into consuming ulcers on the neck. It destroys the lungs, or fills them with tuberculous secretions. It eats away the coating of the stomach, enlarges the liver, clogs the kidneys, creates constipation, and induces piles. The muscles it contracts and renders powerless with rheumatism, while the secretions of the joints contaminated by it cause the painful gout. It loads the perspiration with its virulent poison, setting on fire in its passage the little tubes or pores of the skin, causing the torturing disfiguration salt rheum, psoriasis, and other itching and scaly diseases which embitter life. It gathers at morbid centers into tumors, abscesses, and life-sapping ulcers. It slowly undermines the constitution, and is the cause of nearly all chronic diseases.

A JUST AND COMPLETE LUTHER

It was difficult for editors as well as ministers to say anything new about Martin Luther We tried it, but were not entirely satisfied with our success and can therefore appreciate the difficulties which others experienced The palm for originality on this coast must be accorded we think, to the editor of the Pacific of San Francisco In that paper there was a continued editorial in five parts, all in the same issue however, which tells what Martin Luther was "The great reformer was a scholar and a poet" And to make it more clear we are told what a poet is. "The poet rides on wings that stir sublimer ethers than do the wings of the wind. He gathers his singing robes about him and soars away into broadest realms and among the infinitudes of God. And we are poets as far as we are Christians We accept this statement humbly for our own part but have no doubts concerning the editor of the Pacific He is clearly a poet Luther was also a wit He could smile, he could laugh he could be droll, he could be mirthful" 'All this made him how child like how simple-hearted, how companionable and how able to amuse, divert cheer, please and even thrill himself in times of trial, through dark days, and under mustering squadrons of storm swept skies " But with all his wit and all his poetry "there was no warmth in the atmosphere of his younger years Stiffness and formality, freezing and fuming moil and toil dullness and gloom went their slow rounds through the hovels and haunts of the peasants " Nevertheless ' he burst into glowing life, into all-tinting light His soul took fire The angels led him His hands nailed up the 'theses' He stood before kings He was conceded a hero He subdued kingdoms He conquered the ages. He is living still '

All this is explained so far as poetry is susceptible of explanation by the fact that this is "meteor month " ' We may not have any wonderful show this year," the Pacific editor says "but we shall have a good show "The bright moon is somewhat in the way ' And yet our friend and brother has "twice noticed brilliant ones that burst and went out like the flying fragments of explosive rockets, ending in showers of brilliancy " But when the moon sets, "diligent watchers on housetops, and where the sweep of the horizon is unobstructed, will be able to count twenty or thirty an hour, more particularly during the hours next preceding the break of day ' The editor does not say that he will be on the housetop, 'more particularly during the hours next preceding the break of day " If he does 'plume himself for those loftier flights" of stairs we trust that he will not disturb the rest of the family but be as quiet about it as possible, and give the world the results of his "gazings' in "the serener airs," and make known the 'glints' he receives while looking up 'to keep the spinal column erect." And if his observations are equal to those upon Martin Luther we pledge him our word, as a brother editor, that they al all not be wasted on the desert air of California but be spread abroad among the readers of the OREGONIAN, who all know a good thing when they see it.

THE GOVERNMENT SERVICE

The president of a leading New England college recently said that the ' new civil service bill tended to make that service as desirable as the army or navy for young men and he thought that students about to graduate should be taught something regarding the government service, the organization of the departments methods of transacting public business etc An eminent civil service reformer who holds a high place under government, to whom this idea was presented for an expression of his views, says 'In the present condition of things I could not commend the public service as a career for a young man While confident of the final triumph of civil service reform I am not at all sanguine of the success of the present experiment. It is not wisely conducted by those in charge of it and it has little sympathy or support in the high places of the government I should not be surprised to see it gradually collapse in any event, and it would, I fear, be brushed aside like a cobweb should the democrats gain control of the administration I say this through no partisan prejudice, but I think that would be the inevitable course of any party coming into power after years of exclusion from the government, during which the 'ins' had ruthlessly slaughtered the 'outs' It is too much to expect of any party that it will take a partisan service off the hands of its predecessors, and trust only to usual vacancies to get its own men into place '

The democrats have definitely said that they will turn out republicans if they gain control of the administration The prospect of such an entire change of federal officers and the mistakes and losses that would inevitably follow, will be a powerful argument for the party now in power There is a strong and growing sentiment in favor of taking the offices out of politics. Some progress in this direction has already been made, and the civil service reformers will not tolerate a return to the spoils system, if they can help it, and they have shown in New York and Pennsylvania that they hold the balance of power

At the national meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union resolutions were adopted in favor of total abstinence and demanding the repeal of the internal revenue tax on liquors. The union calls for total abstinence and free rum This will be encouraging to the owners of the seventy million gallons of whisky now in bond, which must come out during the next two years. "Unless some relief is afforded," the owners of this whisky will have to obey the law and pay some $63,000,000 of duty on it into the United States treasury These whisky men have been wanting somebody to help them swindle the government, but probably did not expect the Christian temperance women to plead their cause We are sorry, though not much disappointed at the resolution of this society. It would be gratifying to us if the matter could still be so managed that the whisky dealer might be compelled so far to resemble an honest man as to pay the tax which the law assesses upon him and his miserable business. The repeal of the tax on liquors would greatly reduce the price of intoxicating drinks and undoubtedly increase the quantity consumed. Do the members of the union prefer that whisky shall cost only five cents a drink instead of fifteen, and do they think that by cheap liquor and no taxes the number of total abstainers would increase? If so they are mistaken The high price of whisky before the tax was reduced in the hard times, was one cause of the temperance reformation in Iowa and Illinois and other states which began during that period

The Salt Lake Tribune thinks there is something to be said on the other side of the question of territorial offices In territories there "are strong partisan divisions, and not unfrequently, personal and factional fights which no officer can reconcile, and which will, in spite of all prudence on the part of an officer, sooner or later involve him in enmities and turn upon him the poisoned arrows of those who cannot control him to suit their own purposes' And because of these divisions it is sometimes best, it thinks to appoint men resident. Who it asks, can be fixed upon in Utah who would be acceptable It is heartily in favor of the reappointment of Governor Murray but admits that this can only be expected as a result of the demand for his reappointment, both from the anti Mormons of Utah and in other parts of the country. We second the motion

A small party is now at work under orders from Capt Powell, upon the various incomplete government works in the Willamette river, preparing them for a long suspension Nothing more can be done till money is provided by congress.

The woman's suffrage amendment which has passed the Washington territory legislature will doubtless be signed by Governor Newell who has been committed to its support from the first It is as simple as it could possibly be made It strikes the word male from all election laws The subject has not seemed to excite much general interest in the territory, which is to be regretted, for the practical value of this extension of the suffrage will depend upon the degree to which women who are legally qualified to vote exercise that right The great advantage that is claimed for it is that which results from representative government —teaching people to take care of themselves This movement for the representation of women is the outgrowth of the democracy of modern times, whose ideal of government is, not that the few should govern the many but that the many should govern themselves Full confidence in the people' has been said to be the only foundation upon which the government of England can rest It is much more the only safe foundation of our government We cannot afford to have any class upon whom the public burdens fall rest vu under the feeling that they are unjustly excluded from a participation in the government In this case however the proof of the pudding is in the eating

We took great interest in the Massachusetts canvass and had been ready to congratulate the people of that state on their ability to triumph over ignorance greed prejudice demagogery the worst and most dangerous elements in our civilization and were taking hope and courage for the future of the whole country But it is all spoiled by learning from a practical astrologer that it was the stars that gave Mr Robinson his majority The mystic circle of the heavens at the time of Mr Robinson's birth is what did the business for him Mars Jupiter Mercury and Venus all had a hand in it There is one advantage in this, however It will absolve Governor Robinson from all obligations to the men who may seek office under him on the plea that they made him governor and thus it may prove to be an important step in civil service reform

Our much boasted protective policy, it seems, has not made us so independent of Europe as its advocates claim The army and navy board of six officers who have been traveling over Europe observing the various processes in the manufacture of heavy steel guns have returned and will report as soon as they have examined a few of our home arsenals They say that there are no steel works in the United States furnished with the requisite plant for the manufacture of heavy guns and there are no American steel manufacturers who know much about the business Hence, in case of war we should be left dependent upon Europe for modern heavy steel ordnance and our enemy would at her very first step cut us off from the European manufacturers

Commending the laws of Georgia under which a newsdealer has been fined $ 000 for circulating a notorious New York weekly that is sold at all the first class hotels in this city, the Cleveland Plaindealer observes that if responsible newsdealers would resolve not to sell the less flagrantly indecent papers—of course such newsdealers do not sell absolutely vile publications—the case would be simplified We do not see how a respectable dealer can bring himself to expose such wares for sale He can plead the demand, but that is a poor plea because a demand exists for everything nasty on the face of the earth

There is still one more centennial that of Evacuation day at New York the 25th inst The navy will furnish some war vessels to fire salutes from in the harbor provided the water be not so rough as to shake the frail shells in pieces the army will furnish a detachment of troops the police and fire departments and the Knights Templar of New York and Brooklyn are invited to join the procession and Vanderbilt is expected to loan his Madison Square garden as a rendezvous and lunch place for military guests

No street in the world perhaps possesses more value to the square foot than Fifth avenue New York the abode of so many millionaires The figures as taken from the tax books of the current year show that the city derives a revenue of over $1 000 000 a year from this one avenue between Eighth and Eighty second streets the value of the property being about $70 000,000 The Vanderbilt palaces which occupy an entire block are assessed at $1 500 000

From the description which we copy from the Pioneer Press of the house Mr Villard is building for himself in New York it would seem that the president of the Northern Pacific has little fear of the bears of Wall street A man in immediate fear of financial ruin does not put $1,000,000 into an Italian palace and then spend $250,000 in furnishing it Evidently again, it pays to be a successful railroad man

The democrats tried to work the Scandinavian vote" in Minnesota but failed The Norwegians cast about one half of the republican votes of the state and this year they showed their capacity for the exercise of the right of suffrage by refusing to be entrapped by the demagogues art and voted against a candidate of their own nationality

Mr George will make every possible effort to secure a place on the commerce committee of the house but success is very doubtful A democratic speaker will probably not be over anxious to afford a republican the chance to serve the people of a doubtful state ' well

ALL THE FISH DISTRIBUTED.—The [illegible] carp sent out by the fish commission have all been distributed. A regular run on the [illegible] was organized yesterday and so great was the demand that Mr. Moore was obliged to reduce the number furnished each applicant to twenty-five. This forms an illustration of the benefits of the fish commission, which, by furnishing young fish free of cost, can stock every frog pond in the country, whereas if the public were required to pay for the carp the ponds might long continue to produce an annual crop of tadpoles and mosquitoes. The beautiful little Ice House lake at the Cascades, belonging to the O. R. & N. Co., is to be stocked with carp, Mr. Frank T. Dodge having secured some for that purpose. The lake contains no trout, and unless the clear spring water proves too cold for these fish, in a few years will be a grand carp preserve.

TEMPORARILY INSANE.—Last evening policeman Kramer found a man wandering around the streets, and judging from his actions that he was insane, took him to the station. He gave the name of Alex. Nicholson and said he had been working in the coal mines near Seattle and was going east with his family, who were stopping at a down town hotel. He appeared to be laboring under the idea that some one was going to kill him, and was afraid to go back to his hotel. His wife was telephoned for. She said that her husband had been suffering for some time from a slight mental aberration, on which account they were returning to his friends at the east. He has five children and only about $40 in cash to see them all through their long journey. His wife took him back to the hotel with her.

DECIDED AGAINST THE CITY.—The case of Finnen et al. vs. the City of Portland, which has been pending for some time in the state circuit court, was decided yesterday by Judge Stott in favor of the plaintiff. The case is one in which the city tried to collect a tax from Ellen Finnen, B. L. N[illegible]den and the Dundee Land and Investment Company for the improvement of B street, two or three years ago. These parties claimed that the street was not improved according to the ordinance which authorized it, the material used being very inferior, and therefore refused to pay the assessment made upon their property. When the city tried to collect the money they went into court and asked for a perpetual injunction. Judge Stott held that they were right, and so decided yesterday by granting the injunction.

SPIRITUALIST SOCIETY ORGANIZED.—Yesterday articles were filed with the county clerk incorporating "The First Spiritualist Society of Portland." Its object, as announced, is the study, promulgation and teaching of philosophy, and the science of spiritualism, occultism, psychometry, psychology and all other natural laws; the spiritual, mental and physical development of its members and others who may desire the same, and the spreading of their doctrines. Value of property owned by the society is placed at $100. The incorporators are R. J. Bodley, S. J. Lucas, M. Mrozies, Laura Don Durkee, Mrs. H. Carlyle and Mrs. R. J. Ladd.

LARGE YIELD OF HONEY.—Sam Morehart, of Fisher's landing, W. T., well known in this section as a great bee fancier, and who imports his queen bees from Europe, recently brought to this city and sold the honey which he had taken from eighteen hives during the past season. This amounted to 3000 pounds, according to Morehart's own statement, which was retailed to an incredulous reporter of THE OREGONIAN yesterday. Later in the day another bee man was met and the story told to him. In his opinion the amount said to be taken from Morehart's hives was about twice as much as the average.

NO RECEIVER YET.—The Holladay's, Ben and Joe, have not yet been able to agree on a receiver to take charge of the property in litigation. Attorneys for both sides have been engaged for the past two days in trying to make a selection, but without success. Yesterday afternoon they narrowed down to three names, and towards evening had settled on one of Joe's selection, but at the last moment Joe refused his consent to the choice. It looks now as if Judge Stott must make the selection himself, and he will do so to-day unless the litigants agree on a man.

NEW COASTER.—The little schooner Robert G. Ingersoll, built last spring by Sorenson, has been fitted with an engine and propeller, and will be employed in the coasting trade. On her trial trip everything worked to the satisfaction of Captain [illegible]. With eighty pounds of steam the little craft made fourteen miles per hour. There is a good opening for her now on the coasting trade, to supply the place of the lost Ona.

SUING FOR DAMAGES.—The suit of Horace M. McCune against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company for $10,000, was on trial yesterday in the U. S. circuit court before Judge Deady and a jury. McCune claims the sum mentioned for damages received in an accident at the second crossing bridge last March. All the testimony was in when the court adjourned last night, and arguments will be heard this morning.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE.—Jailor Doherty yesterday reported another attempt at escape from the county jail. A female prisoner heard a noise at the south side of the building, and on receiving the information Doherty hunted out the place and found one of the window bars sawed about half through. Near the place were found, concealed, evidently in a hurry, a small saw, a file and a chisel, which were confiscated.

NEARLY CLEARED.—By much hard work the employes of the Portland postoffice have cleared up and forwarded to its destination all the eastern mail that had accumulated here excepting ten sacks. These will be worked to-day and sent east to-night. When Assistant Superintendent Jameson arrives he will find that this office was equal to the emergency of solving what promised to be a difficult problem.

HYDRANT ORDINANCE SIGNED.—The ordinance authorizing a contract with the Hydraulic Elevator Company for the erection of hydrants on a portion of Front and First streets has been signed by the mayor. The company already have their mains laid on Front street, but it will take some time to manufacture the hydrants, and it is not probable that they will be in position till about New Years.

Y. M. C. A. THIS EVENING.—Special services will be held in the association hall this evening for young men only. Subject, "Opportunities Lost." The meeting will be conducted by the Rev. L. W. Hayhurst.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning on the motion to remand to the state circuit court the case of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company vs. Lowenberg et al.

JOHN P. JUDSON'S DEFENSE.

I have had a conversation with Mr. J. F. Judson, who was referred to in your columns yesterday, and from him I glean the following:

The man Ryan is what may be called an habitual drunkard. Mr. Judson has kept him supplied with provisions and a place to live in for several years past. He now owes Judson a considerable sum of money. He has taken occasion, during Judson's absence, to visit his residence in a drunken condition, and has cursed and sworn before Judson's wife and children, until the matter became unbearable. He had previously given his power of attorney to Judson and desired him to transact all his business for him, and had instructed Postmaster Gale to give his mail to no one else than Judson. He had refused to let Judson's family have the use of Judson's own horses, until he was compelled to give them up; and then he threatened to sue him for work done, when he already owed him $196 for keeping him (Ryan) for years.

Judson looks on the matter as a blackmailing arrangement, and does not consider that his crime (if such it is) is worthy of the magnitude given it in your columns.

BRIEF MENTION.

The new play, "Coralie," at New Market to-night.

O. P. Tompkins was returned to the insane asylum yesterday.

A steel safe-key picked up on First street awaits the owner at this office.

All lovers of fish will rejoice to know that the delicious halibut is in market again.

Dr. A. L. Nicklin, of Salem, has removed to this city, where he will engage in practice. His office is at room 13, Union block.

Ben Honeyman, who had his foot crushed several weeks ago by an iron casting falling on it, is now able to walk about again.

The canvas back ducks are coming in; and as soon as the dark of the moon comes, we may expect to see the markets filled with these redheaded beauties. The mallard is a good duck, the widgeon is not to be despised and broiled teal is hard to beat, but the canvas back is the acknowledged king of the duck family.

PERSONAL.

A party was given last night at the residence of Mr. C. H. Lewis.

G. F. Paxton officiates as city attorney during B. M. Dement's absence in Salem.

Mr. Charles Van Houten of eastern Oregon, formerly of the Portland postoffice, is in the city, after an absence of five years.

Mr. R. B. Knapp and wife left last night for Chicago and the east. Mrs. Knapp will go to Hot Springs, Arkansas, to spend the winter.

Mr. H. D. Green, whose left arm was severely injured by a fall some three weeks since, is able to be out again. He still carries the arm in a sling.

Hon. John F. Henry and wife of Brooklyn, N. Y., who have been spending a few days in this city, will leave for San Francisco to-night. Mr. Henry has been prominent in New York politics for many years as a republican. He is now a leader among the anti-monopolists.

AMUSEMENTS.

To-night the Louise Rial Company will present, for the first time on the Pacific coast, "Coralie," an adaptation from the French by Mr. Peter Robinson of San Francisco. The play deals with the character of a reformed woman, and is strongly emotional. To-night is the occasion of Miss Rial's benefit.

Next week we are to have a number of standard plays by the Gramer-Davies combination. They have been playing to large houses all over the Sound and at Victoria.

BETROTHAL.

Philip Friedlander and Justine S[illegible]ler.

John Cran & Co. have received a new lot of Scotch Knit turbans and a fine lot of Men's Neck Wear and Knit Underwear.

Decker & Son, Pianos, with new Composition Metallic Frames, the greatest piano of the age. Caution—Beware of unscrupulous dealers, who, on account of our long established reputation, the great improvements that we have made from time to time, the high state of excellence that we have attained in our manufacture, and the unqualified indorsements and testimonials that we have received from the most eminent musicians of the country, endeavor to palm off other instruments bearing a similar name, for genuine Decker & Son Pianos; the original manufacturers; established 1856. H. Sinsheimer, 71 Yamhill street, between First and Second, sole agent, established 1862.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

The books of the Mechanics' Fair Association for 1883 show that all other piano dealers have entered for competition. At the beginning of the fair Mr. L. W. Prentice came to me and requested me not to enter my pianos for competition, he also agreeing not to enter his. The public can readily understand the cause of this action, as the Decker & Son piano is far superior to any other make. H. SINSHEIMER, Yamhill st., agent for Decker & Son Pianos.

THE MATTER OF PAVEMENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

At the meeting of the city council, held on the 7th inst., that body resolved to improve First street by placing Nicholson pavement from Alder to Salmon, with stone crosswalks, a contradiction to all proper construction. It is strange that the parties most interested should demand, and still more strange, that the city officials should give their consent, to the placing of any kind of wooden pavement upon one of our most important thoroughfares. It is equally strange that all interested seem to be ignorant of the fact that all the cities of the world have condemned the Nicholson pavement as a practical street improvement, both in regard to economy and durability. This should be argument enough to convince the people here, when all the cities of the civilized world have condemned the Nicholson as a street improvement for the economic policy just referred to, this should be further convincing when we announce, and challenge contradiction, that in all the cities of the civilized world not one street can be found under improvement with Nicholson, except a few instances in London and Paris, and probably a few lesser noted exceptions in front of a royal palace or aristocratic mansions, where, regardless of cost, Nicholson is placed because it is pretty and noiseless.

In the case of the Nicholson resolution above referred to, with all leniency to motives, it appears to be the outcroppings of some design of those interested in that class of improvement, regardless of our developing municipal relations, or the cranky tinkering of an ignoramus influence which, without practical judgment, has found some way to exert an improper influence upon the parties who pay the money. There is no occasion to make comparisons of different pavements in cost or durability; the whole subject is so easy of solution that one careful thought will convince the true condition to dawn its light upon the most obtuse mind, having the direct financial interest. It is true that new communities are always learning from the older, and the subject of streets and thoroughfares is of paramount importance to all of those new municipal communities, as no city of the past or present is old enough to have evolved a satisfactory street pavement; but all have sufficient experience to have condemned wood and iron in all cases of experiment, and are tending today, after the experience of ages, using only rock in some form of construction—macadam, stone, block, etc.—macadam in the residence neighborhoods and pleasure grounds, with stone block upon the heavy business thoroughfares.

To conclude, as all the cities of Christendom, especially of America, have been compelled to return to their normal and native rock for their streets, used almost exactly as the old Romans constructed the Appian Way, about two thousand years ago; so our young cities should learn by the experience of the older, and not waste their time and money upon experiments already condemned by practical application. It seems anomalous that people owning such large property upon one of our most important business streets could be so easily influenced into recommending Nicholson pavement through the effect of some shallow argument offered by interested parties.

A HUMAN FIRE.

The Phenomenon of a Burning Mine Repeated in the Physical System.

A few years ago one of the most important coal mines in Pennsylvania caught fire. It started slowly but soon obtained such headway that it spread through the greater portion of the entire mine. To flood it with water would extinguish the fire, but well nigh ruin the mine; and still the flames continued to increase. At that juncture a young man stepped forward and suggested that all the entrances and vent holes of the mine be covered and secured, thus shutting off the supply of air. His advice was followed and the flames were finally subdued.

To compare the condition of this mine with many phases of the human system, is most natural and appropriate. "Fire in the blood" is not a mere expression, it is a most serious fact. How it originates, it may be impossible to say; but that it burns and rages with an increasing fury, the one who is its victim only too painfully knows. The blood is the life. It is designed by nature to purify, strengthen and sustain the system. It is too often made the channel through which poison and death are transported. Poisonous acids coming through the veins and arteries inflame and cause a fire just as real as the one which existed in the mine. They burn and irritate, causing the brain to become weak and the nerves unstrung; they carry pain to the muscles and leave agonies in the joints; they bring destruction instead of strength; they devastate the very portions of the body that most require help, and they hasten the approach of death in its most horrible form. These things have been felt by innumerable people who have been the victims of rheumatic disorders, and the agonies they have endured confirm this description.

There is but one way by which this fire in the blood can be extinguished, and that is by shutting off the supply of these poisonous acids. The lactic, lithic and uric acids come into the blood through the liver and kidneys, and they remain in solution in the blood, producing inflammatory rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, neuralgia, gout and all rheumatic fevers and affections. When they are deposited as gritty crystals in and near the joints, they cause articular rheumatism; when in the muscles, muscular rheumatism and lumbago; when in the tissues covering the nerves, sciatica; when in the face, head and nerves generally, neuralgia. In every case they are painful; in most instances dangerous. Inflammatory rheumatism is likely to locate in some joint and become chronic, or suddenly attack the brain or heart, causing apoplexy or heart disease. The fire in the blood must be extinguished—the supply must be shut off. This can only be done by guarding the portals to the blood—the kidneys and liver; and no means has ever been found for accomplishing this which can equal Warner's Safe Rheumatic Cure. It acts directly upon the seat of the disorder; it extinguishes the fire by controlling the supply and removing the cause.

The well known standing of H. H. Warner & Co. of Rochester, N. Y., the remarkable success which Warner's Safe Cure has achieved, being indorsed by no less a personage than Dr. Robert A. Gunn, Dean of the United States Medical college, New York, and the fidelity with which they have carried out all their promises to the public, should be a sufficient warrant that the above statements are true. They, however, guarantee to cure 95 per cent. of all rheumatic troubles, especially acute, knowing full well that the demonstrated power of the remedy justifies them in so doing. Nothing can be fairer than this, and those who suffer in the future from rheumatism with such an offer before them do so on their own responsibility and can blame no one if living pain and untimely death are the results.

Poor Bernhardt.

London Times.

Mme. Sara Bernhardt's unfortunate marriage is again exciting the curiosity of the scandal loving Parisians. Two journals of second rate reputation a few days ago dragged the subject out of oblivion on the plea of defending Mme. Bernhardt's husband, M. Damala. The defense of this gentleman, who has just accepted an engagement at the Gymnase theater, was coupled with some not very complimentary remarks on the great actress, and her son, M. Maurice Bernhardt, a young man scarcely out of his teens, though precocious enough to be the lessee of a theater, sent his seconds to the editors of the offending papers. Both declined to do battle with so young a man, but the result has been the publication of several enigmatical letters, which were never intended for publication, and an interview, in which Mme. Bernhardt has explained infidelity and extravagance to be the cause of her separation from her husband. Mme. Bernhardt, according to the interviewer's narrative, said: "We parted because I would not continue to bear outrageous expenses, to pay for carriages, bouquets, penalties for broken engagements, etc. My equipment was not grand enough, and my carriage did not suffice. We had violent altercations, and one day, after one of these scenes, I rushed out of the house without hat or gloves, telling him he could take everything, for, as he would not go away, I would, and should not return so long as he remained there. I wandered about the whole day and at nightfall sought refuge at my aunt's. It was after this that he entered into an engagement at the Gymnase, where I had immediately afterward to pay the penalty for his breach of contract in order to enlist in Tunis. He completely equipped himself for starting, and I paid the poor volunteer recruit. This is not all. M. Damala wished to be the lessee of a theatre. I have had to bear the consequences of this too. M. —— is inquiring whether I am really married or not. Be this as it may, I have paid for the freak royally, and, married or not married, on ne m'y reprendra plus."

Drunk and Disorderly.

Chicago News.

One of Ella Wheeler's "Poems of Passion" begins: "She touches my cheek, and I quiver—I tremble with exquisite pain; she sighs—like an overcharged river, my blood rushes on through my veins; she smiles—and in mad-tiger fashion, as a she-tiger fondles her own, I clasp her with fierceness and passion, and kiss her with shudder and groan." Ella may call this a poem of passion, but here we call it drunk and disorderly.

THE EAST SIDE.

ASPHYXIATED.

An accident which nearly cost two men their lives occurred yesterday at the scene of the blasting operations, opposite the lower depot. It appears that a well about twenty feet deep had been prepared for a blast, the charge deposited therein and the fuse attached when the workmen went to dinner. Upon returning from dinner at 1 o'clock one of the men called "Pat" descended the pit by the windlass for the purpose of "tamping," preparatory to firing the pit for the blast, and when near the bottom, became asphyxiated by foul air and fell to the bottom on his head. Observing the accident, Mr. Collins, another workman, essayed to rescue the victim, and was lowered in the tub. As he neared the bottom he also began to be affected, and giving an alarm, was drawn up. Nothing daunted, however, he made another attempt to rescue his fellow-workman, this time taking a rope with him. But this attempt proved disastrous to him, as in it he became overpowered and was precipitated to the bottom. Mr. McKenzie, the foreman, now came to the rescue, and evidently knowing what to do and how to do it, was successful in bringing both men to the surface. He was lowered with a rope attached to him as a precaution for his own safety, and with another rope to attach to the insensible men lying at the bottom. By this means both men were rescued, one being drawn up at a time. Dr. Dav Raffety, who was summoned, found both men still insensible when he arrived, the heart's action of Pat, the larger man of the two, and who had lain the longest in the well, having almost stopped. After administering restoratives, the men were enabled to walk around with assistance, but still remained delirious. Mr. Collins was conveyed to his home near the foot of Holladay avenue, and Mr. McKenzie took Pat to his own residence near by. The latter also received an ugly gash at the back of the head, where it struck the gravel bottom, and which the doctor sewed up. No one present knew Pat's other name, or where he resided. It appears strange that the pit, which was free from foul air when the men left it to go to dinner at 12 o'clock, should be charged with carbonic acid gas, or choke damp, on their return an hour later. A theory advanced for the cause of this is that subterranean fissures made by previous blasts were communicated with immediately before the men left, and during their absence the foul air rushed in through these openings. The men had a very narrow escape, but will eventually come out all right, and they doubtless owe their lives to the prompt and commendable action of Mr. McKenzie.

FRACTURED HER RIBS.

Mrs. J. B. Parker of Stephens' addition had the misfortune to break two of her ribs yesterday in the following manner: Desiring to get down a bird and cage that were hanging beyond reach, she proposed to make communication by mounting a table. In stepping from the chair to the table the chair slipped from under her, causing her to fall heavily upon the chair on her right side, the effect being to break two of the middle ribs at their conjunction with the spine. Dr. Dav. Raffety was summoned, who found her suffering great pain. He reduced the fractures and left the patient resting much easier; but the severity of the accident will necessarily cause a protracted illness. There is also a possibility of internal hemorrhage.

A REPLY TO JUDGE DENNISON.

Woman Suffrage the Proposed Topic, but the "Argument" Chiefly an Exchange of Unsavory Personalities.

OLYMPIA, Nov. 10,

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

In your issue of the 27th ult. appears an open letter over the signature of B. F. Dennison, addressed to Mr. Kincaid of Whatcom county and myself, relative to our course as members of the legislative assembly of this territory upon the pending woman suffrage bill, so remarkable both in its matter and manner that I cannot but think the poor gentleman has lost his balance and fallen into that condition of mind which led the renowned Don Quixote to enter single-handed upon a crusade against the established ideas and common sense of all mankind.

The points of resemblance between these two worthies are so striking that they can scarcely have escaped the notice of any of those who have read Cervantes' great work and this open letter of B. F. Dennison.

Don Quixote, it will be remembered, from reading too many foolish books and thinking too much about women, became infatuated with the idea that he was the champion of the unfortunate, distressed and persecuted damsels of the whole world—that their grievances were his grievances, and it was his mission to avenge them—so with B. F. Dennison.

Don Quixote, after spending much time and labor to make himself invulnerable, clothed himself in a complete armor of steel, with the trifling exception that he entrusted his head and brain, such as it was, to the protection of a visor of painted pasteboard—so with B. F. Dennison.

Don Quixote charged upon and combatted with everything he met—wind-mills, man or beast—under the firm conviction that by so doing he was vindicating the cause of women in general, and winning immortal fame for himself. So with B. F. Dennison.

Don Quixote generally came out of his furious combats personally worsted—his back sides sound, but his head broken through his pasteboard visor—and those he championed invariably found themselves the worse off for his friendship.

So with B. F. Dennison, and so on; and although assuming the functions of attorney, witness, judge, jury, and executioner, he has examined, tried, convicted, sentenced and punished us without a hearing in violation of the rules of ancient and modern chivalry, still to humor the joke, and give him the opportunity which he seeks of making himself appear still more ridiculous, as did so many of those who met the other famous knight in his search for adventure, I propose, so far as I can separate his questions from the denunciation, vituperation and abuse with which he has mixed them up, to observe the injunction of scripture and answer the fool according to his folly.

First, he indignantly exclaims, rising in his knightly saddle with poised lance.

"Permit me, therefore, to ask, who constituted you the mouthpiece of the women of this territory? Who authorized you to say, 'women do not want to vote'? Have not petitions, largely signed by women, been presented to the legislative assembly now in session, asking that the right of suffrage may be allowed to women? And who sent you to the capital of the territory to proclaim that equal rights will not make 'wives and mothers better but worse?' Did the 'wives and mothers' in the counties from which you come send you there for such purpose? Did they have any voice in sending you there for any purpose, or at all?"

To this I answer with due meekness, that the voters of Clark, Skamania and Klikitat counties at the last election constituted me their "mouth piece" for the time being, well knowing my sentiments upon the woman suffrage question; that their views and wishes upon this matter, are in my estimation entitled to quite as much consideration as are those of B. F. Dennison or any other man, and that, so far as the women of Washington territory are concerned, I have at least as good a commission to speak for them as he can produce. To the last group of questions upon questions contained in the above paragraph, with the purpose of furnishing him the information which he so earnestly seeks and undoubtedly needs, I will say that the wives and mothers of the counties I represent had no direct voice in sending me to the legislature "for any purpose or at all."

I may also remark, without questioning the sacred right of petition, that those received by our legislature, asking for woman suffrage, do not, in my opinion, represent the sentiment of a majority, or anything like a majority, of the women of the territory upon that subject. And even if they did, I am frank to say that in that fact alone I should still see no sufficient reason to change my views as to the policy and propriety of granting their petition and permitting them to vote. I must be convinced that the condition of both sexes and the general interests of society would thereby be promoted before I can become an advocate of woman suffrage, which, as now informed, I do not believe.

The next shower of those missiles which he hurls at our unfortunate heads runs as follows:

"Besides, sirs, what right have you, or any set of men to say that women shall not be allowed to vote or hold office?

Who gave you, or those of your gender and mine, the exclusive right to make all laws, do all the voting, hold all the offices and receive all the emoluments of office?

Please examine the origin and foundation of your own rights before you deny the same to your "wives and mothers."

Do you claim that any government or law is just which denies to one class of citizens rights and privileges enjoyed by another class?

But you tell us that woman suffrage is "premature."

Do you really think so? It is now more than 100 years since your forefathers and mothers pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to establish the principles of self government, one of which was: "There shall be no taxation without representation."

To the first two of these I reply that it is only necessary to examine the body of our laws relative to the qualifications for office, and of electors, commencing with the common law of England and running down through the latest statutes of the various states and territories of our Union to ascertain where those of my gender (I beg to be excused from committing myself as to the gender of B. F. Dennison) "got their exclusive right to make all laws, do all the voting, hold all the offices and receive all the emoluments of office." And without pausing to enter into a discussion of the origin of human rights, as here invited, I will pass on to say that if "no government or law is just which denies to one class of citizens rights and privileges enjoyed by another class," there is not now, never has been, and I fear never will be any just government or law in the world. But this, like his far fetched allusions to the Declaration of Independence, and the pledge of the fathers that "there shall be no taxation without representation," is, to use an eloquent and favorite expression of this precious champion of woman, mere twaddle and clap-trap, without the slightest bearing upon the subject in hand.

Every school boy knows that the taxation resisted by the fathers was that imposed upon the colonies by Great Britain, and the representation demanded by them as their rights, was colonial representation in the parliament of England according to the principles of the British constitution. The history of those times furnishes no evidence that the idea of extending the rights of suffrage to women had ever entered the heads of even the most advanced champions of national independence and liberty. And even in view of the present changed circumstances, what could be more absurd than the inference of this modern Don Quixote that the oft-repeated and never-disputed maxim that "taxation without representation is unjust" means that it is unjust to withhold the right of suffrage from any person or class of persons who are taxed for the purposes of government? If we are to admit such to be its true meaning, and follow it out to its legitimate results, then we must either make suffrage universal, as it is impossible to conceive of any class not taxed, unless it be paupers, or we must make the payment of a tax the condition of suffrage, which would carry us backward several centuries and re-establish the old property qualification of pre-revolutionary times. This twaddle about taxation and representation as applied to individual suffrage means one of these two things, or it means nothing. In that connection I think it means nothing.

Our interviewer next asks: "How long, in your opinion, must 'wives and mothers' be excluded from the enjoyment of that principle, and others equally just and valuable? Must they forever be door keepers of the temple of liberty and never be permitted to enter its portals?"

In my opinion they will either have to wait until the present governing class admit them to share the responsibilities of government with them, or they must gird on their armor, or Mother Hubbards, as the case may be, range themselves behind their redoubtable champion, and availing themselves of the right of revolution set forth in the declaration of independence, assert their right to vote and hold office by force of arms.

The interrogatories noticed above are supplemented by "one or two broader questions," as our inquisitor terms it, such as the following: "Do you deny that the self-evident truths contained in the declaration of independence are as applicable to woman as they are to man?"

God forbid that I should deny it.

"Do you deny that women in the pursuit of happiness are entitled to the same rights, privileges and opportunities that men are?"

No. But I do deny that nature ever intended that man and woman should follow the same pursuits, or that the happiness of either would be promoted thereby. That class of women who make men of themselves are followed and admired only by that class of men who make women of themselves, and vice versa. Masculine women and feminine men are fortunately, however, mere exceptions. Were it otherwise, our social system would be entirely reversed, and the women would always be on top. Certainly, if B. F. Dennison may be permitted to hurl the holy bible at our heads, I may have recourse to the same weapon, and so will say in a word that in my opinion no human legislation can change the sentence pronounced by God upon the woman and the man. To the one he said, 'Thy desire shall be to thy husband and he shall rule over thee,' and to the other, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread."

Next he asks: "Do you deny that "the times which tried men's souls" in the struggle for independence were the times which tried the souls of women also?

"Do you deny that, when liberty finally unfolded her white wings, she came to us bringing blessings and offerings alike for all?

"Have you forgotten the fundamental truth—that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed? Do you not know that "all persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the states wherein they reside? You cannot plead ignorance as an excuse for your arrogance and dereliction of duty—not to say your contempt for woman's petitions."

I deny neither of the two first propositions, but I do deny that when liberty came she brought the right of suffrage to women. If B. F. Dennison says she did, what is he bothering about? Why don't they go up and vote?

I have not forgotten the fundamental truth that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed;" nor am I ignorant of the constitutional provision that "all persons born and naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the state wherein they reside;" but I do remember what B. F. Dennison seems to have forgotten, which is that [illegible] "fundamental principle" and constitutional provision, at least four-fifths of the [illegible] our very liberal system have [illegible] to the powers of government exercised over them—that is to say they have had no right to vote, and to some of the classes who come literally within the requirements of the constitutional provision above quoted, in every particular, perhaps even he would not be willing to extend the right of suffrage.

The whole substance of this matter is that the right of suffrage, in any country, has no higher origin than the statutes which define the qualifications of voters, and the only arguments that can be effectively used in favor of woman suffrage are those which tend to show that her condition, and that of mankind would be improved by giving her that right.

Has B. F. Dennison, with all of his clap-trap and twaddle about "fundamental principles," and the Declaration of Independence, offered us anything of that kind? I think not.

And now, Sir Knight of the pasteboard visor, having broken a lance with you upon your own terms, and in the lists of your own choosing, as turn about is but fair play among all such as ever hold themselves in readiness to give or take a blow in the cause of lovely woman, I will place you upon the stand relative to one or two of those matters you have seen fit to bring before the public, and try whether you are as fond of answering questions as you have shown yourself in asking them.

In the commencement of your chaste and courteous epistle you take the occasion to intimate that Mr. Kincaid and myself, for our opposition to the woman suffrage bill, have been "unmercifully mopped in our own vomit, and may yet have the satisfaction of seeing our names, together with our photographs and maiden speeches, in the Police Gazette," with some other fine writing in the same vein, to the effect that you have been told we "spent much time in dressing ourselves up in lion skins for the purpose of creating terror and dismay among the advocates of equal rights, but unfortunately the long ears protruded and created nothing but ridicule and contempt."

Now, pray, sir, tell me, are such expressions as "mopped in your own vomit," considered classic and elegant among the class of women you assume to represent, and is the Police Gazette their chief organ and source of news, that you would hold us and our views up to their contempt through that sheet?

And how do you think our photographs, accompanied with the full text of our speeches upon woman suffrage and the proper relations of women to society, would compare with your photograph accompanied by your open letter and a full history of what you have done by practice and example for "the wives and mothers" of the country, if hung up side by side in that or any other gallery?

And how do you dress yourself when you are about to sally out as the champion of these women, conquering and to conquer? What kind of a skin do you wear, and what characteristic of the jackass do you display upon these expeditions?

Permit me, in conclusion, to suggest that there is no occasion for a stale and cumbrous application of Æsop's fable in order to identify you with that interesting species.

J. B. LANDRUM.

TOCCOA CITY, GA.—Dr. J. P. Newman says: "Brown's Iron Bitters are very popular, and their use always results satisfactorily."

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, Nov. 15.

The week has witnessed a fair trade movement for the season. Early this calendar week a drizzling rain gave way to clear, cold weather, and to-day an east wind is stirring. Only a steady call for goods that run out of stock is looked for for some time, as interior dealers have laid in the bulk of staple winter stocks. No doubt there will continue to be a steady freight movement of larger proportions than heretofore had during winter, for rail connection furnishes almost uninterrupted communication, and there are many articles that dealers are to buy hereafter on short credit. These articles will be placed in stock as the demand for them is had. The new year is expected to bring a radical change in our trade methods. Heretofore local wholesalers have carried many of their customers along with only yearly or half yearly settlements. That this condition of things must be changed is quite apparent, and it is proposed to give sixty days on all articles in the grocery line except sugar, which will be sold on thirty days' credit. Jobbers have to pay cash for sugar, and there is a very small margin for profit even if sold for cash. The sixty day credit is liberal enough for all purposes, and the time has come when there must be less long credits extended in the country, or those giving them must carry the accounts and not force them on the wholesaler, who can get but one profit on the two sales. Our city dealers have a name for liberal treatment of customers, and it may be said that they have paid for the name. With our being placed in closer relation to eastern centers there will be closer competition, and necessarily lessened profits and shorter credits.

Overland receipts include 182 sks bacon, 15 pkgs tobacco, 250 bxs soap, 3 cs eggs, 9 tcs 26 tubs butter, 5 tcs 71 cs 5 hf lard, 25 cs can goods, 8 cs confectionery, 3 bbls molasses.

The firm of Black, Porter & Co., Halsey, has effected a settlement with creditors and are to continue in business.

FREIGHTS—Arrivals for past seven days have been 2782 tons engaged and 3710 disengaged. On spot 2036 tons have been taken up. Seven vessels of 7601 tons have sailed, leaving a gain of 3179 tons for the week in spot tonnage. Charters include the Oberon, iron, and Rowland Hill, soft wood. The latter was closed yesterday to Balfour, Guthrie & Co. on terms reserved. Common belief places the rate at not more than 37s 6d for orders. At San Francisco yesterday three low charters are reported, and include an iron ship at 45s and a wooden bark at 32s 6d for orders. The large wooden ship A. D. Snow gets 31s direct. That market really lower than generally expected. Shippers here will do nothing without a cargo in hand so that there is no speculative demand, and the feeling is far from buoyant.

WHEAT—While Beerbohm quotes the English market at 3@6d above last Thursday's prices, private cables say it is off. These cables are substantiated by the fact that a cargo of Walla Walla sold here yesterday at 3d below the last similar sale. Imports in the United Kingdom for the past week show an increase as compared with the previous week, and the amount afloat is increased 55,000 qrs. Our market has shown less strength as compared with last week, and sales made then could not now be duplicated. Open bids are now $1 65 for Walla Walla and $1 70 for valley, with possibly an advance of 1@1½c obtainable. Very little has changed hands lately because of this bidding down. Elsewhere we present a statement of receipts and exports since the beginning of this season. It includes all the movement to date, but does not refer to cargoes loading and not cleared.

FLOUR—Market firm at $5 25 for standard brands, less usual trade discount. On large sales this has been shaded. For export the market is not so firm. The Sound trade will soon be wrested from us, unless a more favorable freight rate is given. It now costs fully 50 cents per ton more to ship flour from here than from San Francisco, and this when steamers are leaving in water ballast.

MILLSTUFF—Local receipts almost meet all demands. We quote jobbing prices: Bran, $20@24; shop, $20@32; middlings, $30@35. Ground barley jobbing at $27 50@30.

OATS—Market considerably weakened by late receipts of territory, which sold at 54c. For good to choice local feed 56@58c is quoted. To obtain more the article must be very choice. Sales of inferior at 53@55c.

HOPS—Nothing doing in the way of sales and very little being received here. Large shipments go through to eastern points. Advices are of a steady character and indicate no new values.

WOOL—There is almost an entire absence of any buying, sales being confined to an odd lot which is occasionally let go at 10@17 cents.

POTATOES—Stocks fully up to requirements, and anything but a choice article moves slowly. Values range between 50 and 60 cents, as to quality.

PROVISIONS—Stocks include some very choice local cured, and receipts include a liberal quantity of eastern. Values are quite firm at: Oregon choice hams, 15@16c; best eastern, 19@21c; bacon, 13@14c, eastern lard, in pails, 13@13½c; Oregon lard, in tins, 14c; shoulders, 10@12c.

FRUIT—Choice apples sell at $1 50 per box, and ordinary at $1@1 25. Pears bring 25@50c advance on apples. California fruits in light trading.

DRIED FRUIT—Values show little change. We quote sun-dried apples, 10@11c; Plummer dried apples in boxes, 16c; plums, 19c; Oregon prunes, 12c; German prunes, 10c; peaches, 13@14c; pears, nominal, 10@12½c; California figs, 9c; raisins $2 25@2 50 per box, with usual advance for fractions.

CHEESE—Oregon offering is said to meet with more favor than does eastern. We quote Oregon 16c; eastern, 15@17c; California, 15c.

HOGS—Dressed bring 4@6c, latter only for choice. Demand from packers not large.

BUTTER—Values weaker. Quote fresh roll 40c; eastern tub, 37½c; good to choice solid 30@35c.

POULTRY—Chickens selling at $3@5 50 as to size; ducks, $6@9; geese, $7@10; turkeys, 15@16c.

HAY—Market fairly supplied at $20@23.

HIDES AND SKINS—Hides dull at 6@7c for green and 14@14½c for dry. Furs and skins without change.

IMPORTS—Per str Santa Cruz from San Francisco: 3176 cs coal oil, 75 cbs acid, 2 tks 2 cs gasoline, 2 cs varnish, 25 bbls lime, 50 cs turpentine, 225 tons shale, 112 kgs 149 pkgs sporting powder, 600 kgs blasting powder, 1000 cs Hercules powder.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 6869 ctls wheat, 1708 bbls flour, 582 ctls oats, 5 ctls millstuff 8 sks potatoes, 600 lbs hides, 15 cs eggs, 39,049 lbs hops, 104 bxs fruit, 6 pkgs butter. The Ohio spiritualists boast that their opposition to the Republican ticket cost it this year from 15,000 to 20,000 votes. Their complaint was that, under a law passed by a republican legislature they must, as was complained, take out a license to hold "circles."

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling in on the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitution becomes corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Beware

of the continued use of mercury and potash for the treatment of Blood and Skin diseases—they never cure, and nearly always injure or totally ruin the general health.

A WELL KNOWN DRUGGIST.

My drug store was the first to sell Swift's Specific. It was then put up in quart bottles, which sold for $5 each. I have seen a great many cases cured by its use, and some who had tried all sorts of treatment. In fact I have never known it to fail when taken properly. I sell a large quantity of it, and for all diseases that are dependent on blood poison or skin humor, it cures

Pimples or Blotches on the Skin,

And makes the complexion fair and rosy. As for blood taint, there is no such word as fail. It cures cases that have long withstood other sorts of treatment, and without any of those recurring troubles that generally follow mercurial and other so-called cures.

T. L. MASSENBURG, Macon, Ga.

DRY TETTER.

For years I was afflicted with Dry Tetter of the most obstinate type. Was treated by many of the best physicians; took quantities of mercury, potash and arsenic, which instead of curing the tetter, crippled me up with mineral poison and rheumatism. The tetter continued to grow worse, and the itching almost made me crazy. In this condition I was induced to take Swift's Specific, and the result was as astonishing as it was gratifying. In a few months the tetter was entirely well, the mercurial poisoning all out of my system, and I was a well man—and due only to Swift's Specific. All like sufferers should take it.

JAMES DUNNING, Louisville, Ky.

WHAT A PHYSICIAN SAYS.

CYPRESS RIDGE, MONROE CO., ARK., July 23, 1883.

I have a bright little daughter who will be two years old next month. She has been troubled nearly ever since her birth with a skin disease, which I first diagnosed chicken-pox, but later found it to be some sort of eczema; at any rate it resisted very stubbornly all the different treatments. I procured one bottle of Swift's Specific and gave it to her in small doses three times a day, and in a short while had the satisfaction to see that she was entirely well. I am so well pleased with its effects on her that I shall not only use it in my practice, but I shall administer it to my other children and take it myself.

WILBOR'S COMPOUND OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND LIME.

Get the Genuine Article.—The great popularity of "Wilbor's Compound of Cod-Liver Oil and Lime" has induced unprincipled persons to attempt to palm off a simple article of their own manufacture; but any person who is suffering from Coughs, Colds or Consumption should be careful where they purchase this article. It requires no puffing. The results of its use are its best recommendations, and the proprietor has ample evidence on file of its great success in pulmonary complaints. The Phosphate of Lime possesses a most marvellous healing power, as combined with the pure Cod-Liver Oil by Dr. Wilbor. Sold by WILBOR, Chemist, Boston, and all druggists.
